

NeverWage Whitepaper

(The only NEETcoin with memes – for a comfy life)

In 1930 economist John Maynard Keynes famously predicted technological advancements would eventually lead to a 15-hour working week in the Western world. His theories would come to dominate economic policies of countries all over the world from the U.S. to Japan to Communist China for much of the 20th century. His prediction on the other hand was a stark disappointment. In the U.S. and Britain, median real wages have stagnated or even declined since the 1980s, and working hours in the same period have flatlined or decreased by negligible levels in the order of 1-2 hours per week. This is all in contrast with skyrocketing productivity levels from technological advancements and the digitalisation of the economy. Wealth has been created on an enormous scale, but too few are seeing a better deal in life.

Fast forward to 2021, and we see ourselves in the era of The Great Resignation, with record numbers of disgruntled workers quitting their jobs in the belief that the deal they are getting is simply not good enough. We see labour shortages across the globe, with employers struggling to find willing applicants to recruit for positions that would have normally been easy to fill.

How in the hell

could a man enjoy being awakened at 6:30 a.m. by an alarm clock, leap out of bed, dress, force-feed, shit, piss, brush teeth and hair, and fight traffic to get to a place where essentially you made lots of money for somebody else and were asked to be grateful for the opportunity to do so?

- Charles Bukowski, Factotum, 1975

And yet confusingly, in modern times we are increasingly warned of the prospect of AI making human labour increasingly unnecessary. You would think that the prospect of intelligent machines making human labour unnecessary would be hailed as a glorious development for humanity, but under the current market system where most depend on a wage-labour contract with an employer to secure their income, many view it as a grave threat to their livelihood. Solutions have been suggested, such as a Universal Basic Income (UBI) paid to all citizens regardless of income or means, but most governments have so far been unwilling to proactively take such radical measures.

This is where NeverWage comes in. NeverWage is a token on the Binance Smart Chain (BSC) that aims to unite an international community of people who believe the system of wage-labour (termed by some as 'wage-slavery') is dehumanising and disempowering. Alongside the usual restrictions that wage-slavery places on a man's time and his ability to pursue his vision and his own passions in his work, many employees find themselves under constant scrutiny outside of work as well. An employee may find that his freedom and independence are not only limited in the workplace, as voicing controversial opinions outside of work, being part of the wrong political organisation, testing positive for the wrong chemicals, saying the wrong thing on social media, or in 2021/2022, refusing to take a vaccine that he (rightly or wrongly) believes could be unsafe could all lead to him losing his employment and thus livelihood.

NeverWage believes in a better way. NeverWage is a mixed community of NEETs, self-employed and wageslaves planning their escape, with a common goal to become financially independent and earn money doing the things that they love, rather than what the boss tells them to do. NeverWage and its community strongly believe in the power of humour and satire as a tool for ridiculing and deconstructing systems of oppression and a source of personal and collective empowerment.

But how does NeverWage achieve this?

The answer is simple, reflections and MEMES.

REFLECTIONS

NeverWage holders pay a 13.5% tax on buys, sells and transfers between wallets. Of this, 8% goes to a pool which regularly distributes $BUSD rewards, approximately every 1-3 hours depending on volume, to all holders proportional to the size of their wallet. $BUSD is a BSC-token created by Binance that is pegged to the US dollar, with full 1:1 backing in fiat currency and fully audited accounts.

This means that NeverWage produces a steady income to its holders that has a fixed fiat value and isn't subject to the wild fluctuations of normal cryptocurrency, helping those on the road to financial independence gain income for day-to-day expenditure.

The full NeverWage tokenomics are as follows:

- 8% - $BUSD rewards automatically paid hourly to holders
- 4% - redistributed back to the liquidity pool to support an ever rising price floor
- 1.5% - sent to a marketing wallet to promote the NeverWage vision and attract more investors and holders.

MEMES

The fun part of NeverWage, being more than just a shitcoin with passive income rewards, NeverWage believes memes and humour will be at the forefront of the anti-work revolution. NeverWage devs, staff and community alike will be regularly creating, making, sharing and editing hilarious memes which ridicule the corporate clown world and the typical NPC colleagues you're likely to find in the office. But more than just spamming the Telegram with memes, NeverWage is taking it one step further, by launching a dedicated platform called NeverWage.app. NeverWage.app is a web portal and permanent archive of community created memes that mock wageslaves, corporate NPCs and celebrate the grand ideal of the Comfy Life and its realisation. NeverWage.app will allow users to upload their own content and receive recognition from the community. But not only that, NeverWage will be using a small fraction of the marketing wallet to buy back coins during dips, and host regular meme competitions with prizes paid in both $NEVERWAGE tokens and $BUSD or other crypto, incentivising the creative power of the community and continually strengthening the NeverWage meme library. The memes will invariably be edgy as fuck and include your favourite crypto characters including Bogdanoff (press F), Sminem, Wojak, Chad, boomer, zoomer and more.

NFTs

Alongside our vast collection of epic memes, in weeks 2-3 NeverWage will be launching a dedicated NFT marketplace, with the ultimate goal to integrate it into NeverWage.app. NeverWage's NFT collection will include coins and rare collectibles of all your favourite aforementioned characters as well as your chance to own your favourite NEET and comfylife memes on the blockchain.

NeverWage.app and NeverWage's NFT portal will also allow users to create and upload their own NEET and comfylife memes, providing yet another means for holders to monetise their creativity and earn funds towards living the comfy life.

Anti-whale tokenomics and implementation

As well as passive income, meme portals and NFTs, and the tokenomics mentioned above, NeverWage aims to protect its holders with some simple anti-whale tokenomics to discourage pump and dumps. The NeverWage smart contract limits wallets to holding a maximum 1.5% of the circulating supply, discouraging early adopters from hoarding the supply when it is available for cheap. On top of this, NeverWage sets a 1% transaction limit to prevent whales from engaging in mega dumps. While we are confident the exciting features of this project will provide a strong incentive to hold, we believe these features will make our holders funds just that little bit safer.

Genuine fair launch

NeverWage is a founding dev team of 3 crypto enthusiasts who will be providing $5000 worth of initial liquidity to the liquidity pool. There will be no presale of this coin, which is where the public or private individuals external to the project are invited to give money in advance to fund liquidity in return for the promise of tokens at a later date. The disadvantage of presales is that they concentrate a large proportion of the supply in the hands of a small group of people before the coin has ever launched, which makes sustained price growth very difficult as presalers are known to dump their tokens as soon as the price goes up. With an initial marketcap of $5K and a fair launch announced via Telegram, this is your chance to get in early to a potentially HUGE moonshot returning many times your initial capital.

Ownership renounce and anti-bot launch

Ownership of the contract will be renounced at launch, meaning control of the contract will be transferred to the burn wallet as we successfully launch the token on to the market. Before the contract address is officially released in our Telegram groups, NeverWage devs will add liquidity approximately 1 hour before the token is set to launch. When the contract is deployed, the devs will temporarily change liquidity taxes to 99%. Why? Because many launches on Pancakeswap are ruined by bots that automatically buy a large percentage of the supply when it goes live, only to dump it all later and kill the coin. Any bots attempting this on our coin will only see their funds transferred into the liquidity pool, thus supporting the future price stability of our project. Immediately before release to the public, developers will change taxes back to 13.5%, and then renounce ownership, making it impossible for them to change taxes again, and helping to build trust with the community.

The liquidity pool will start with $5000 worth of BNB and all funds will be locked on an ongoing basis.

We thank you for reading our whitepaper and look forward to living the comfy life with you.

Website: <https://www.neverwage.io>

Meme portal: <https://neverwage.app>

Telegram: t.me/NeverWageBSC

Subreddit: /r/NeverWage

The virgin eternal wageie spends his own money losing 2 hours every day to commute for zero pay thinks he will get a GF after he gets promoted, never does

Rage quit crypto after losing $1000, says it's all a scam

lives for the approval of others

no exit plan, lost hope years ago

urgent meeting scheduled with HR at 2pm, doesn't know why low status and hates himself, but accepts any job out of fear of being a NEET

secretly prays government will retire him before he dies

status anxiety

ties his self worth and entire identity to job title and corporate role

no hobbies or interests, life only has meaning in serving his company

obsessively follows all fads just to fit in at work spends 80% of his income on rent, nothing left to save/invest

The Chad Comfy Reflections Earner

trades crypto by day, earns Binance-USD reflections every hour in his sleep accountant doesn't understand his reflections, thinks it's money laundering, doesn't bother to cash out for fiat anymore doesn't care what anyone thinks, liked and respected as a result built a solid passive income after years of trial and error

morning walk to clear his head

finds his own meaning in life

lives by his own values, sets his own mission in life and pursues it at all costs totally free and financially independent, dedicates his life to his passions and experiences literally doesn't know what HR is obtained comfy net worth by hodling shitcoins and compounding his gains reinvests reflections in multiple passive income streams for his future

ascended from all social conditioning

home is full of nice things, buys more every week

WORLD NEWS

Kremlin pleased with Putin-Biden summit, hails pledge to never wage

Vladimir Putin, Russia's president, left, and US President Joe Biden, centre, shake hands at the start of the US-Russia summit in Geneva.(Bloomberg)